Good Afternoon Southwood Kindergarten Families,

The Hanover School Division has informed us that Thursday, November 12th will now become Day 1 on the school cycle. This is being done in light of the fact that Tuesday, November 10th has been changed to an admin day (a Day 0). This is different than the information we sent out earlier today. Our apologies for any inconvenience this may have caused.

Please find attached an updated calendar with the correct days of the cycle linked to the calendar dates up until the December holiday break.

If you have any further questions, feel free to contact the school.

Sincerely,

Rod Kehler
